I would like to lodge my support for a ban on lightweight single-use plastic bags in Western Australia as soon as possible.

My husband and I recently spent two years in France where there are no plastic bags provided in supermarkets. We became quickly accustomed to taking our own durable, recycled bags with us to shop and in fact brought several of them back to Australia with us to use here. We keep them in our car and simply replace them back in the car as soon as groceries are packed away in the house.

I believe all West Australians are capable of the same changes, as long as shops make affordable alternative bags or boxes available. The recycled, multi-use bags we have from France are very strong and durable and were cheap to buy. They are also large so that you don't have to buy too many.

I hope to hear that this ban will take effect this year.

Kind regards, Paige Standen-Burrows
